Kevin George

What is a relational database?

A relational database stores data in tables consisting of rows and columns. Each table represents an entity, and relationships between tables are defined using primary and foreign keys. Django uses relational databases such as SQLite during development to store application data efficiently.